

Hi there! I'm Catarina – once on a mission to save the planet through Environmental Engineering, now a full-stack developer on a journey to code my way through the digital world.

What started as a side quest, experimenting with code for fun, quickly turned into a full-blown passion.

I just wrapped up a 26-week intensive Full Stack Programming course, and now I'm ready to tackle real-world coding challenges.

I'm all about clean code, creative solutions, and learning something new with every keystroke.

Ready to collaborate, innovate, and maybe save the world – one line of code at a time!
